“ Byron and I belonged to the same song writers club in Cuyahoga Falls. I live in Wet Virginia and it's a 1.5 hour drive from home to the meetings, held on the first Monday of each month. It was ALWAYS worth the drive if Byron had a new song to present. His song writing and story telling skills were special and remarkable. Byron had a way, with lyric and performance, of bringing to life incidents from his past and examples of good people he had known. He wrote about his love for his wife, about a fellow who built one of his guitars and could also build furniture and tools. he wrote about mules and old cars and he wrote about his sincere care for religion and all that goes with it. Byron was a sensitive, caring man who loved his family and brought joy to so many of us. he will be missed for a long, long , time.

“ To the Walker family: I am Red Morgan. I worked with Byron at Chrysler for years. He was a good man and a good friend, as good a down to earth person as I have ever met in life. May God comfort you in these difficult times. May God bless.
